Public Statement Regarding the Death of Todd H. Bol

Little Free Library's Executive Director and Founder Todd H. Bol passed away Thursday, October 18, 2018.

The Little Free Library board of directors and senior staff are pursuing an interim plan to provide continuity of organizational oversight. Board Chair Monnie McMahon is supporting the organization's directors as needed.

Staff, partners, and close business associates of the organization are being informed of changes that may affect them, but daily activity is little-changed.

The organization's staff and board are deeply appreciative of Todd's leadership and good work and are carrying forward his vision of a strong and expanding book-sharing network in his memory.
